The challenge

Some of Mes Advocats' clients in the banking and real estate sectors were experiencing high growth rates, which considerably increased the number of documents the firm had to prepare.

MES ADVOCATS HAD TO FACE:

To document its customers, who have to pass strict controls on their production, with very varied and specific clauses for each case, which consumes a lot of the team's time.

Structuring the document drafting process to offer its clients a rapid response and full guarantee of results.

To move towards the path of digitalisation, through a tool that would allow them to resolve this situation.

The path to success

Mes Advocats had to deal with the problems it was facing, so the firm hired a consultancy firm to advise them on the selection of the tool that best met their needs, and they were shown the Bigle Legal platform.

The law firm's goal is to rely on technology to leverage the legal knowledge that more than 30 years of experience has given them. With this in mind, once the document automation platform was selected, they moved to a consultancy, where Bigle Legal had to understand the firm's requirements.

The implementation process was very easy, Bigle Legal's first step was to understand the needs of Mes Advocats, once that was done the implementation didn't stop.

Bigle Legal's support team has always been accompanying the law firm step by step, complementing the services with training on the essential points so that Mes Advocats could be autonomous in introducing small adjustments to the documents.

The template automation process was completed in a matter of minutes. Mes Advocats quickly realized that the platform met the demands of its clients and the guidelines set by the firm.

The law firm highlights that since the implementation of Bigle Legal they are more productive and efficient.

“Bigle Legal was an immediate fit because it solved the issue of speed of document production while allowing us to introduce all the quality controls we need”.

Mes Advocats stresses that one of the keys to its success in obtaining rapid results was that its team was very clear that technological support was needed to move forward, and so it has been.
